Microphone Branding

pricing

For years we have been producing corporate branding on microphones for our clients. We currently offer two mutually combinable options, which are pop filter printing and plastic cube wrapping.

How does foam filter printing and cube wrapping work?

1. Contact us by email or phone, we will arrange everything you need within minutes.
2. You provide us with your logo in reasonably good quality, our graphic designer will then make sure that the logo is correctly positioned on the microphone pop filter or cube.
3. We will print and ship the selected quantity of microphone filters to your address within the next few days or weeks.

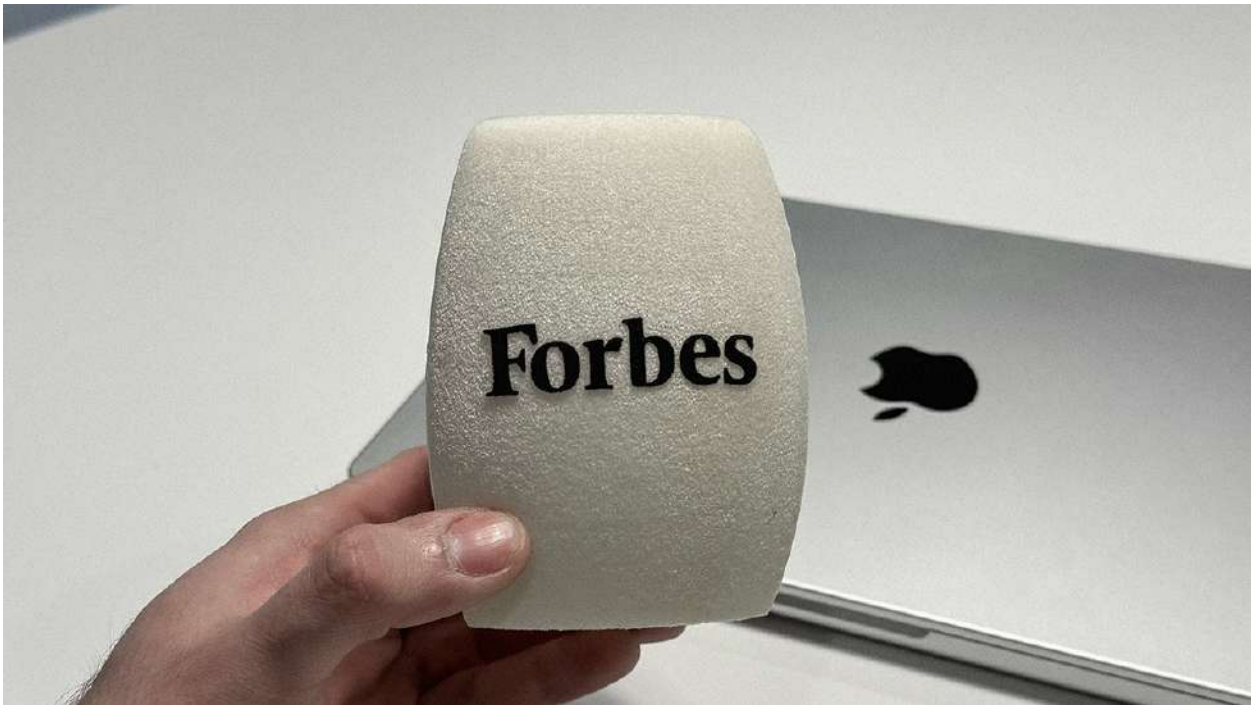
Foam filter printing (pop filter)



The use of a foam filter (pop filter) also has a practical use as it improves the sound quality. At the same time, it provides a surface on which we can place your logo so that you can increase your company's brand awareness in a simple, effective and non-violent way.

For production capacity reasons, it takes up to 30 days to produce a foam filter. If you need your microphone rimmed as soon as possible, check out the next page - the plastic cube wrapping, which will be sent to you within 48 hours of submitting your logo.

The foam filter is compatible with almost every handheld microphone available on the market.

Foam filter for Rode Wireless Go / Wireless Go 2 / Wireless Me / Interview Go

We also produce printed filters for popular Rode wireless microphones. We have them available in different colours. Price and conditions are the same as for standard foam filters.

Plastic cube / triangle wrapping

While the printing of the foam filter takes longer due to high demand, we have an express solution for you in the form of a microphone cube placed just below the foam filter, as you can see in the picture below. In addition to the cube, we also have plastic tripods available, both in white and black.

Together with the cube, you can also buy a single-colour foam filter without printing in different colours. Exactly as you see in the picture above.
